ICT in EFL credit test, MA3, 25/01/2014, version A.
Circle the best answer

1. The sense of digital divide which we focused on in our lectures was:
(a) geographical,
(b) financial,
(c) age-related,
(d) technological,
(e) global.

2. "Teachers should know about Facebook!". In terms of Technology Skills that Every Educator Should Have, this appeal refers to:
(a) Google Tools Knowledge,
(b) Blogging Knowledge,
(c) Social Networking Knowledge,
(d) Video and Podcasting,
(e) Virtual Worlds.

3. "The generation, born from 1980 onward, brought up using digital technology and mass media" is the definition of:
(a) millennials,
(b) baby-boomers,
(c) geeks,
(d) digital natives,
(e) generation Z.

4. Google ngrams are a great tool for learning EFL:
(a) grammar,
(b) reading,
(c) listening,
(d) pronunciation,
(e) vocabulary.

5. Corpus statistics shows that the text frequency of the definite article in English is about:
(a) 1%,
(b) 3%,
(c) 6%,
(d) 10%,
(e) 12%.

6. The most unique feature of pop-english in its time (and now) was its:
(a) built-in dictionary,
(b) multimedia element,
(c) testing approach,
(d) audio recordings,
(e) test editor.

7. The technology which can take jobs away from the teaching profession in the future is:
(a) ASR--->MT--->TTS,
(b) Android,
(c) Virtual Worlds,
(d) MMRPGs,
(e) PAVing.

Best answers: 1c, 2c, 3a/d, 4e, 5c, 6e, 7a

ICT in EFL credit test, MA3, 25/01/2014, version B.
Circle the best answer

1. "Word processing skills" was #1 on the list of 20 Technology Skills that Every Educator Should Have back in 2005, but disappeared completely by 2013. The reason is that:
(a) they are too obvious to mention,
(b) they are now called "text processing skills",
(c) MS Word is hardly used anymore for word processing,
(d) there's a strong pressure in schools to go back to handwriting,
(e) teachers seldom do actual word processing at work.

2. A magazine is an iPad that does not work is a comment about:
(a) Apple technology,
(b) no multimedia on paper,
(c) touch&swipe technology,
(d) W/windows,
(e) ASR.

3. According to A Vision of K-12 Students Today, what learners want most is:
(a) technology: iPods, laptops, etc.,
(b) careers,
(c) physical exercise,
(d) critical thinking,
(e) challenge and creativity.

4. According to English corpus data, out of sixteen tenses there are ... worth teaching, from the point of view of their frequency.
(a) 2,
(b) 4,
(c) 6,
(d) 10,
(e) 12.

5. The most didactically exciting feature of Talk to Me was:
(a) the superb quality snapshots,
(b) the repetition drills with graphic support,
(c) the ASR,
(d) the word games,
(e) the authentic language.

6. An intelligent chatbot with good TTS could function as:
(a) caretaker for the elderly,
(b) foreign language model,
(c) native language teacher,
(d) language tester,
(e) friend.

7. According to Jarek Krajka's research, the ICT skills practised least in school are:
(a) making computer presentations,
(b) editing graphics,
(c) writing webpages,
(d) making concordances,
(e) using social media.

Best answers: 1a, 2c, 3e, 4b, 5c, 6b, 7e.